Wood & Finish Variation

Wood is a beautiful natural material that adds warmth and variety to our homes. We are proud to use American hardwoods in the production of our cabinets. No two pieces of wood will be the same and that is the charm of this material. Coloring and grain patterns vary, even within boards from the same tree. In addition, wood changes color as it ages and with exposure to light.

Remember, too, that wood is still a "living" component and moves with moisture. Over time some hairline marks may appear in the finish, especially with pigmented (Winterset & Dewy Morning) finishes, over joints in faces where individual pieces are glued together. These will be seen on any cabinet from any manufacturer that uses natural wood. Be assured that we use only the best and most advanced finishes with the greatest elasticity to minimize joint marks.

Acknowledgement

By ordering a cabinet, the customer acknowledges the likelihood of color and wood grain variations; and that these variations are not within the control of the manufacturer nor considered defects under this warranty.
